Cash Roads - 11th Grade

Cash is one of those successful individuals who has both talent and drive. He is an outstanding scholar because he is bright, but also because he works hard. He is driven but also fun and easygoing. He is always prepared for class, ready with his homework and prepared to answer any questions. He volunteers answers when the rest of the class is silent. He pays attention (he even looks at me and nods sometimes!) He is willing to help other students when he understands and they have questions. His work ethic is evident, as he is proactive about his studies. When he misses, he comes and asks about what he missed to be sure he has all the work completed and on time. He takes responsibility for his actions, and for his learning. He is an exemplary student.
